

Unit 3 Am I really so different?

Task 05

Announcer: Now listen and find out what really happened.

Narrator: Amy's parents had always been proud of her. She was a decent student and a sweet kid, but of course, by the time she started her apprenticeship, she was growing up. Amy was pretty and fun to be around, so she always had lots of friends and plenty of things to do on the weekend. However, her mother and father began to worry about her after she met someone special who shared an interest in her new hobby, visiting "haunted houses" ...

His name was Christian and he was a few years older than she was. He had already completed his apprenticeship and worked at the same company as Amy. Christian and Amy started filming videos and taking photographs inside dirty, abandoned buildings together. They liked the way the buildings looked, and it was easy to make up stories about the mysterious places. At first Amy just held the camera, but then she started to have her own ideas about where to film and how to frame the scenes. The old homes near the stadium on the outskirts of town were lovely, but no one had lived there in years and they would all be knocked down soon. At night, they were very well lit during sports events. Amy and her friends decided to film their last scary movie inside the old houses while they were still standing. They met nearly every day after work. Nobody ever got hurt and the images were amazing. One evening, as Amy was about to snap the rusty chain on an old iron fence with a pair of wire cutters she had borrowed from work, her father walked by with the family dog. "What on earth are you doing, Amy!?" he cried out. Amy couldn't even look at her father because she was suddenly very afraid of him. She dropped her tools and ran away from the house. What would her parents think ... ?
