2 Reading

A bookshop

Read the blog about Powell’s Books. First decide whether the statements 1–5 are true (T) or false (F) and put a cross (X) in the correct box. Then identify the sentence in the text which supports your decision. Write the first four words of this sentence in the space provided. There may be more than one correct answer; write down only one. The first one (0) has been done for you.

Powell’s Technical

I’m in Portland, OR, today. Powell’s bookstore is huge, wonderful and famous. However, I only just discovered their smaller, but still quite big “technical books” department around the corner. HOLY MOLY. This is wonder world for all the risk-takers, the doers, the makers of things. These shelf labels should give you a good idea of what you’ll find: artificial intelligence, vintage & hand tools, probability theory, solid state electronics, microcontrollers, CNC, Tesla, fuzzy logic & neural nets, dams, bridges, boatbuilding, artificial life & genetic algorithms, user interface design and more. There are cosy café chairs, and a little collection of older, reliable computers in the back, including a NeXT Cube and CBM Model 8032. They even sell stethoscopes in the medical reference section!

Due to rain and hail, I’m stuck inside enjoying free Wi-Fi. No one cares I have yet to buy anything – although I’ve already collected a pretty big stack of books. If you’re ever in Portland, this place is a must.

		T	F	First four words
0	The text is about the technical department on the second floor of Powell’s Books.		X	However, I only just
1	Among the different subjects there are also books on computing.
2	Powell’s also sell hand tools.
3	You don’t have to pay for using Wi-Fi inside the shop.
4	The author of the blog did not find any books to buy.
5	He does not think Powell’s is a good shop.

3 Writing

A bookshop

Describe a bookshop you know. Think about the following:

- How big is it?
- Where is it?
- What are the people like who work there?
- What’s special about the shop?

Write 100–120 words.

4 Listening

Shopping trip

Listen to the recording from exercise 8, page 62 again. You are going to listen to Jason shopping. While listening, match the beginnings of the sentences (1–6) with the sentence endings (A–I). There are two sentence endings that you should not use. Write your answers in the boxes provided. The first one (0) has been done for you.
