2 Writing

World Environment Day

On this year's World Environment Day, students are invited to share their opinion regarding environmental issues in a blog post. The best blog posts will be published on the school's website and the writers will get free concert tickets of their choice. In your blog post you should:

- explain what you do to help the environment
- state your opinion on the Fridays for Future movement
- speculate about the future consequences of global warming

Write around 250 words.

Comparing

Read what Sylvie says about her relationship with her mother and cross out the expression in each group which has a different meaning.

My mother has probably been the most important influence in my life so far, but we're quite different as people. She's 1 slightly / far / a bit more patient than me, and 2 much / far / marginally more tolerant of other people. On the other hand, I think I've got 3 a little / far / much more initiative than she has, maybe because she's always worked at home, looking after the house and our farm. I'm probably 4 just / nearly / almost as tough as she is mentally, although she's 5 a lot / slightly / much stronger physically. But we share the same sense of humour, and get on really well together – people say we're more like sisters than mother and daughter!
